

युगलवर, निरतत कुंज कुटीर ।
 छिटकि रही चहुँ चारु चाँदनी, कालिन्दी के तीर ।
 विकसित-मुकुलित, कुसुम कलिन पर, भई अलिन की भीर ।
 शीतल, मन्द, सुगंध पवन बह, कलरव केकी, कीर ।
 हास-विलास-रास-रस खेलत, झूमत प्रेम अधीर ।
 होत 'कृपालु' सुमिरि सो झाँकी, पुलकित सकल शरीर ॥

Yugalvar, Nirṭaṭ Kunj Kutir.

Yugalvar, nirṭaṭ kunj kutir.	Radha and Krishn are dancing together in a kunj near the river Yamuna (in the early part of the night).
Chitaki rahi chahuṅ chāru chāṇḍni, Kālinḍi ke teer.	The splendor of full moon light is glorifying the entire Kalindi (Yamuna) beach.
Vikasiṭ-mukulit, kusum kalin par, bhai alin ki bheer.	Some flowers are fully bloomed and some are half. Attracted with the sweet perfume of the flowers, the bumble bees are hovering around Them.
Sheetaḷ, maṇḍ, sugaṇḍh pavan bah, kalrav keki, keer.	The cool perfumed breeze is mildly blowing and the parrots and peacocks are joyously making happy sounds.
Hās-vilās-raas-ras khelaṭ, jhoomaṭ prem aḍheer.	In such a romantic atmosphere, Radha and Krishn, merrily swaying in the love of each other, are singing, dancing and lovingly playing together, (and, at the same time, They are keeping the rhythm of the dance unbroken).
Hoṭ 'Kripālu' sumiri so jhāṅki, pulkiṭ sakal shareer.	(A Gopi is telling her friend about her experience and says,) "O sakhi! (I was there watching Them dance.) It was so loving that whenever I remember that scene it thrills my whole body."